

TERMS OF SITE USE AGREEMENT

Myanxiouschild.com is solely owned and operated by Informed Therapy Resources, LLC (referred to as ITR).

Please read this agreement carefully before using this site. It will notify you of the following:

1. What personally identifiable information is collected from you through the web site, how it is used and with whom it may be shared.
2. What choices are available to you regarding the use of your data.
3. The security procedures in place to protect the misuse of your information.
4. How you can correct any inaccuracies in the information.

By using this site you consent to all terms of site use as described in this agreement. ITR may change this policy from time to time by updating this page. Any changes made are effective immediately. If you do not agree to the terms and/or conditions outlined herein you may not use or access this site nor utilize the products or services offered by myanxiouschild.com and ITR. The content of this site is for educational and informational purposes only. In no way should this site be utilized as a substitute for professional diagnosis, treatment or advice from your physician, other healthcare professional, product label or packaging.

COPYRIGHT AND TRADEMARKS

All designs, logos, product names, icons, text, graphics, sounds, software and other content including the arrangement thereof, are the sole property of Informed Therapy Resources, LLC, or its licensors, all rights reserved. Any use of this or other material(s) from this site, modification, distribution, replication, exploitation or creation of derivative works is strictly prohibited without the expressed written permission of Informed Therapy Resources, LLC, or its licensors.

LIABILITY: TURNAROUND: TURNING FEAR INTO FREEDOM™ PROGRAM AND MED FAQs DISCLAIMER

Turnaround: Turning Fear into Freedom program provides parents and children with tools and techniques designed to help the child overcome anxiety. It is not designed to treat children who have severe or refractory psychological disorders or medical conditions, and the strategies it suggests will not work for all types of children, stages of development or circumstances. Nothing stated on the website or program should be construed as a promise of partial or complete remission of symptoms. Children with Posttraumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) should not begin use of the program unless under the care of a professionally licensed health provider. Various factors may affect whether the program is effective with a particular child, including the child's age and developmental level, the child's setting/environment, the severity of the child's psychological condition, and the parent's ability in assisting with the program.

Children who exhibit signs of dangerous behavior to either themselves or others, should be placed immediately under the care of a qualified professional. Turnaround: Turning Fear Into Freedom is not intended to take the place of professional therapy, counseling or medical treatment. Children currently under the supervision of a professional should not discontinue such care without the consent of this professional. This program is not intended as a substitute for medication, and it is ITR's position that you should never discontinue a child's medication without consulting the prescribing physician. If a parent or supervising adult has any concerns, questions, or doubts regarding their child's wellbeing, they should seek medical and/or psychological treatment from a qualified individual and should not solely rely upon the opinions expressed in Turnaround: Turning Fear Into Freedom.

Use of Informed Therapy Resources, LLC (ITR) products and/or services and all associated content(s) is at your own risk. In no event shall Informed Therapy Resources, LLC., its licensors, suppliers, affiliates and or associates mentioned in product literature or www.myanxiouschild.com be liable for any damages, including but not limited to, incidental and consequential damages, personal injury, wrongful death, lost profits, damages resulting from lost data caused by use or misuse of this site, content or public areas.

PRIVACY POLICY

ITR respects consumer privacy. The following discloses to our website visitors information regarding how we collect data about them and how they can limit the use of personally-identifiable information beyond the purposes for which they first provided it. At all times, however, Informed Therapy Resources, LLC. reserves the right to disclose information where required by law or to comply with valid legal process (such as a search warrant, subpoena or court order), to protect the company's rights or property (including without limitation in the event of a transfer of control of Informed Therapy Resources or substantially all of its assets), or during emergencies when safety is at risk. We do not collect personally-identifiable information about users unless the user specifically and knowingly provides this information.

Informed Therapy Resources, LLC. (ITR) may use this information provided by consumers for promotional and marketing purposes. Said information may be made available to certain marketing partners of ITR for their work on behalf of ITR. Additionally, ITR reserves the right to share information with selected third parties in order to provide you with information about products or services that we think you would like to receive. We may use personally-identifiable information we collect to process transactions, respond to an email or other inquiry or request, to help improve our website and our services, to customize your experience at our website, or to send updates or notices about our company and the products we offer that we think may be of interest to you. We would use this information to help us provide customer support. We may also combine this information with other generally or publicly available information to help us identify visitors' preferences or interests, to administer a promotion, contest, survey or other site feature. We may provide information that identifies you to companies that assist us in these activities, such as helping us fulfill your request for a product, service, or information or to selected third parties that offer products or services that the ITR thinks will be of interest to you.

Our site uses forms in order for site users to request information, products and/or services. These forms collect necessary information to fulfill user request(s). User name, address, telephone number, email address, credit card number and expiration date can be used when and as given by the user in order to properly fulfill request(s). If we have trouble processing an order, we will use this information to contact you. We use outside companies to process credit card charges. These companies do not retain, share, store or use personally identifiable information for any secondary purposes beyond processing your order.

Our site may use "cookies" to keep track of your shopping cart and to identify you each time you return to the site. We will not use "cookies" or other devices to follow your click-stream on the Internet. A cookie is a piece of data stored on a site visitor's hard drive that helps a site improve access to that site and identifies repeat visitors to a site. Most browsers permit you to refuse to accept a "cookie" from being stored on your computer. You will not be denied access to any part of the web site if you choose not to accept a "cookie." However, transactions through this web site may be delayed due to the time it takes you to re-enter basic information necessary to complete a transaction. If you send us personal identifying information by e-mail (for example, in a message containing a question or comment, or by filling out a form that e-mails us this information), we use it to respond to your requests. We may forward your e-mail to other ITR employees or contract personnel who are better able to answer your questions. We cannot guarantee the security of data transmitted to our site (ex. email). Any transmission is at your own risk. Users may opt-out of receiving previously requested information, products and/or services or otherwise have their information removed; see the modify/opt-out section below.
